An excerpt from  Our Daily Bread.

Let Go

Be still, and know that I am God.

Psalm 46:10

The owner of the bookstore where Keith worked had been away on vacation for only two days, but Keith, his assistant, was already panicking. Operations were smooth, but he was anxious that he wouldn't do a good job overseeing the store. Frenetically, he micromanaged all he could.

"Stop it," his boss finally told him over a video call. "All you have to do is follow the instructions I email you daily. Don't worry, Keith. The burden isn't on you; it's on me."

In a time of conflict with other nations, Israel received a similar word from God: "Be still" (Psalm 46:10). "Stop striving," He said in essence, "just follow what I say. I will fight for you." Israel was not being told to be passive or complacent but to be actively still—to obey God faithfully while yielding control of the situation and leaving the results of their efforts to Him.

We're called to do the same. And we can do it because the God we trust is sovereign over the world. If "he lifts his voice [and] the earth melts," and if He can make "wars cease to the ends of the earth" (vv. 6, 9), then surely, we can trust in the security of His refuge and strength (v. 1). The burden of control over our life isn't on us—it's on God.

By Karen Huang

Reflect and Pray

How can you let go of situations that are out of your control and surrender them to God? What aspects of His character help you to surrender all to Him?

Almighty God, You know what's troubling me. I don't know how to deal with it, but You do. Help me surrender to Your leading.

Deadline for announcements in the bulletin is 12:00pm Wednesday.

ATTENTION

Every effort is made to keep member records up to date. However, information may be in-complete or outdated. Your Team Deacon will be reaching out to you soon, if not already to help in this effort. You may also contact the church office directly to make sure the information on file is complete and up to date. (706) 863-4215.
