Trust in His Name

Those who know your name trust in you.

Psalm 9:10

As a child, there was a time I dreaded going to school. Some girls were bullying me by subjecting me to cruel pranks. So during recess, I'd take refuge in the library, where I read a series of Christian storybooks. I remember the first time I read the name "Jesus." Somehow, I knew that this was the name of someone who loved me. In the months that followed, whenever I'd enter school fearful of the torment that lay ahead, I'd pray, "Jesus, protect me." I'd feel stronger and calmer, knowing He was watching over me. In time, the girls simply grew tired of bullying me and stopped.

Many years have passed, and trusting His name continues to sustain me through difficult times. Trusting His name is believing that what He says about His character is true, allowing me to rest in Him.

David too knew the security of trusting in God's name. When he wrote Psalm 9, he'd already experienced God as the all-powerful ruler who is just and faithful (vv. 7–8, 10, 16). David thus showed his trust in God's name by going into battle against his enemies, trusting not in his weapons or military skill, but in God ultimately coming through for him as "a refuge for the oppressed" (v. 9).

As a little girl, I called on His name and experienced how He lived up to it. May we always trust His name—Jesus—the name of the One that loves us.

REFLECT & PRAY

What challenges have been troubling you? How does meditating on Jesus' name build your trust in Him?

Heavenly Father, teach me who You are, so that I never have reason to doubt You in any circumstance I face.

SCRIPTURE INSIGHT

The word shem is translated "name" in English translations of the Old Testament more than eight hundred times. While attaching an appellation to a person (or other entities) is certainly in view, often there's more. The Wycliffe Bible Encyclopedia comments: "In Scripture a name is often an expression of the nature of its bearer, describing his character, position, function, some circumstance affecting him, or some hope or sorrow concerning him." This is especially true of God. The "name" of God is a reference to His person. The parallelism in Psalm 9:2 supports this: "I will be glad and rejoice in you; I will sing the praises of your name, O Most High." The greatness of God as seen in Psalm 9 is affirmed in Proverbs 18:10: "The name of the Lord is a fortified tower; the righteous run to it and are safe."
